NEWS | TOP STORIES

B2B F&B tech startup HungerBox raises $4.5Mn

Business-to-business food tech firm HungerBox has raised $4.5 million (around Rs 310 million) in funding led by South Korea's Neoplux and India focussed PE fund Sabre Capital.

By Guest | July 5, 2018

b2b-fb-tech-startup-hungerbox-raises-4-5mn

> WordPress post #7627

Business-to-business food tech firm HungerBox has raised $4.5 million (around Rs 310 million) in funding led by South Korea’s Neoplux and India focussed PE fund Sabre Capital.

The series A funding round also saw participation from Lionrock Capital (Singapore) and Infosys Co-founder Kris Gopalakrishnan.

The funds will be used to support the company’s growth in India as well for expansion into the southeast Asian market.

Started in 2016, HungerBox operates across Bangalore, Chennai, Hyderabad, Mumbai, Pune, Delhi/NCR, Jaipur and Kolkata.

"We look forward to working with the HungerBox team as they continue to transform the way large businesses handle their corporate food wellness and their F&B requirements," Sabre Partners Founder and Managing Partner Rajiv Maliwal said.

"We are seeing our business growing exponentially. Employee headcount has doubled to over 400 in less than six months; daily orders have grown to more than 2,00,000 from 1,20,000 in the same period, HungerBox CEO and Co-Founder Sandipan Mitra said.

Read online: https://nuffoodsspectrum.in/news/1/12753/b2b-fb-tech-startup-hungerbox-raises-4-5mn.html © 2026 NUFFOODS Spectrum. All rights reserved.