Indimix, a ready-to-cook food range from the House of Pansari, has been recently launched in the market. Along with the vast majority of FMGC brands, New Delhi-based Pansari Group is aware of and taking note of the shifting preferences of the general public. They are making an effort to cater to the converging markets of breakfast and snacking by introducing packaged foods that are both ready-to-cook and healthy snacking options.

The Panasri group presents a list of traditional breakfast alternatives that are wholesome and nutritious under the Indimix range. The fondness for traditional breakfast options among Indians has not diminished through time, and the Panasri group continues to satisfy this need.

There is a wide variety of pre-mixed and ready-to-cook Indimix goods to select from, some of which include nutritional nashta premixes, chapati treats, and meethi delicacies.

The Pansari group is responsible for the creation of the Indimixes product line. When developing these premixes, the Pansari group made certain that the premixes included alternatives for nutritious, balanced snacks and meals as well as options for people who enjoy indulging in sweets.
