NEWS | DIETARY SUPPLEMENTS

Zeon Lifesciences & Vitonnix launch sublingual nutrient spray in India

Collaboration on the design and production of numerous products in this category for a variety of indications

By Manbeena Chawla | December 28, 2022

1

WordPress post #26802

Collaboration on the design and production of numerous products in this category for a variety of indications

New Delhi-based nutraceutical and herbal product manufacturer Zeon Lifesciences has collaborated with Vitonnix to launch a sublingual spray to meet the daily nutrient requirement.

Given that nutraceuticals are a current trend, industry collaboration within the nutraceutical sector is essential to fostering technological growth and innovation that benefits both parties. Sublingual Sprays, a patented product created by doctors and pharmacy professionals after years of thorough research and development, are the product of the UK-based company, Vitonnix.

Expressing his views on the development, Suresh Garg, MD, and Founder, of Zeon Lifesciences, stated “We are forming joint ventures with different businesses to produce cutting-edge products. In an effort to revolutionise medical innovation and research in India, Zeon continually supports creative and translational research.”

Spokesperson from Vitonnix stated that the company has made game changing innovations redefining nutrition. It has brought its technology to India to help achieve a Kuposhan Mukt India just like a polio free India.

Read online: https://nuffoodsspectrum.in/news/7/19718/zeon-lifesciences-vitonnix-launch-sublingual-nutrient-spray-in-india.html

© 2026 NUFFOODS Spectrum. All rights reserved.