This move marks Ushodaya Enterprises' tactical expansion into Kerala

Ushodaya Enterprises Private Limited, a food production company based out of Hyderabad and a prestigious arm of the Ramoji Group, has officially announced a strategic investment in FlexiCloud Internet Private Limited, a leading provider of managed cloud hosting solutions based in Kochi. This move marks Ushodaya Enterprises' tactical expansion into Kerala.

FlexiCloud Internet Private Limited excels in delivering advanced managed cloud hosting solutions that focus on high performance, robust security, and exceptional customer support. The company is committed to demystifying complex technology challenges for its clients, ensuring seamless and efficient digital operations.

Established in 2017 by Vinod Chacko and later joined by Co-Founder Anooja Bashir in 2020, FlexiCloud has become notable for its powerful platform designed specifically for high-traffic websites, application hosting, and e-commerce businesses. The investment from Ushodaya Enterprises will enable FlexiCloud to enhance its technological foundation, broaden its research and development activities, and deepen its market reach. This financial backing is poised to significantly upgrade FlexiCloud's infrastructure and customer service capabilities, promising an improved hosting experience for all its clients.

FlexiCloud merges various cloud services under one roof, offering tailored server options, strategic deployment locations, and extensive application management.

“Our platform is crafted to meet the essential needs of startups and SMEs, providing them with reliable, secure, and scalable cloud solutions,” stated Anooja Bashir, CEO of FlexiCloud.
